j. Members of the Central Intelligence Retirees Association (CIRA), who had indicated their willingness to serve as focal points to augment the Agency's recruitment effort, have been invited to attend a one-day conference at Headquarters, tentatively scheduled for 30 August. Most of the briefings to be provided to the CIRA participants will be designed to update them on current Agency personnel requirements.

25X1

m. [redacted] editors from all directorates met on 30 July to organize an Editors' Forum. After lively discussion, those attending this preliminary forum agreed that they shared several concerns that would make future meetings worthwhile. Those present agreed on four topics of general interest: (1) One style manual for all of the CIA; (2) Editor-writer relationships; (3) Editing as a Career in the CIA and (4) On-screen editing--limitations and possibilities. These topics will be addressed at quarterly meetings with the first scheduled for 30 October.

n. On 22 July, the Changing Role of the Secretary in an Automated Office Course was presented in a new Agency-specific format designed by [redacted]. Formerly, the course was presented by a contractor whose emphasis was on the theory of change. The new format included segments by division chiefs from the Offices of Training and Education (OTE) and Information Technology (OIT); a segment on Ergonomics [redacted] and a segment on [redacted] job creativity by [redacted] Student critiques confirmed that the new format was well received and met their needs. The next running of the course will take place on 19 August.

25X1

o. The full Career Trainee (CT) Class of [redacted] students completed basic word processing on the Wang Alliance on 1 August. The group was divided equally into two groups giving each class two days of intensive training. [redacted] students qualified on the KEE simulator. There were several others who were in-house Wang users who attended only the specialized training sessions. In addition to basic operations, they received training in Visual Memory and Glossary. The Visual Memory will enable them to key in their evaluations of all the speakers. Several Glossary programs contain various quizzes the CTs are required to complete during certain phases of their training. The CTs are certainly a bright, quick and alert group of young people. Overall, the training went very well.

25X1

p. The two-week Seminar on Intelligence Analysis (SIA), conducted at [redacted] ended on 1 August. [redacted] DI analysts, [redacted] analysts from the National Security Agency, and [redacted] from the National Photographic Interpretation Center (NPIC) participated. Particularly successful were the student presentations of their final problems to the ADDI, who commented favorably on their use of SIA techniques in the analysis of complex intelligence problems.

q. OTE co-facilitated the Directorate of Operations (DO) Tandem Couples Course under the direction of [redacted] This course is designed for DO couples facing overseas duty and addresses the marital stresses when one or both spouses serve within the DO. The seminar was conducted at [redacted] 4 - 6 August.

r. The two-day Executive Development Program elective, "Achieving Sustained High Performance," offered by [redacted] [redacted] will be given on 12 - 14 August at the Chamber of Commerce Building. This is the first running and [redacted] SIS officers have registered for a program that can accommodate only [redacted] Selection is being made on a first-come, first-served basis. Based on an assessment of this running, a second running may be scheduled.

t. The Office of Information Technology (OIT) completed the first census in the Agency's history of all ADP equipment in Headquarters-area components. The census reveals that the Agency uses an incredible variety and quantity of ADP equipment. It also gives OIT a tool to help come to grips with and gain control of the Agency's use of ADP technology. In summary:

25X1

v. Representatives from the Office of Finance/Compensation Division (OF/CD) conducted workshops for Time and Attendance (T&A) clerks at OIT, OSO, NPIC, and AF Division. The workshops provide detailed information on the proper methods to record T&A data, the duties and responsibilities of the units in recording this data, and an overview of payroll operations. Most components find these workshops very helpful and CD urges all components to take advantage of this service.

w. Electronic Time and Attendance System (ELECTAS), a joint effort by OF and OIT to develop a prototype system which will transmit hours worked and leave information electronically, is scheduled for initial testing in September. The OIT portion, including the coding is completed, and training and testing has begun with the involved T&A clerks in OIT. Various user manuals are being developed and reviewed which outline procedures for the T&A clerks and approving officers.

- The Office of Research and Development held a four-day symposium, funded by DARPA, on concurrent processing. The symposium brought together scientists and managers from the CIA and other Government agencies with corporate research scientists and academic experts. The first three days of the symposium familiarized the Government participants with the state of the art in concurrent processing machines. During the fourth day, participants discussed the application of concurrent processing to specific, classified intelligence problems. Some 220 people participated in the symposium, and reaction to the program was enthusiastic. Many of the participants have expressed an interest in a follow-up symposium. (U)
